THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The following proclamation was issued by the President to-day:

A PROCLAMATION—At no recurrence of the season has made the occasion for giving thanks to Almighty God more appropriate or more fitting than now, when we have the material prosperity enjoyed by our whole country been more conspicuous, more manifold, and universal. During the past year we have witnessed with pleasure the general prevalence of domestic tranquility, the supremacy and security of the great institutions of civil and religious freedom; we have gazed with admiration on the heroic and patriotic attachment to their principles, which the wisdom and courage of our ancestors so firmly framed, and the wisdom and courage their descendants have drawn from them, in the administration of justice and freedom to successive generations. Now, therefore, I, Rutherford B. Hayes, President of the United States do appoint

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27th,

as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, and I earnestly recommend that, withdrawing themselves from secular cares and labors, the people of the United States do meet together on that day to give thanks and praise to Almighty God for his mercies, and to devoutly seek his continuance.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington, this 3d day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand, eight hundred and seventy-one, and of the independence of the United States one hundred and fourth. RUTHERFORD B. HAYES.

By the President: Wm. M. EVARTS, Secretary of State.

BY THE GOVERNOR OF WISCONSIN.

A Proclamation.

The orderly progress of the session brings again the Sabbath of the year; and it becomes us to follow the hallowed customs of our fathers, and consider the innumerable blessings which a kind Providence continues to bestow upon us. In an eminent degree, health, industry, and virtues, and a zealous care, by the people, for the Nation's honor and integrity, have characterized the year just past, and, with buoyant hope, the coming of the new.

Therefore, conforming to the recent proclamation of the President of the United States, in that behalf, WILLIAM E. SMITH, Governor of the State of Wisconsin do hereby appoint as a day of public thanksgiving and praise; and I recommend to all the people to devote themselves to such religious services, social festivities, and other recreations, upon that day, as shall best serve to make up most of their reverent gratitude to Almighty God.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed.

[L. S.] Done at the Capitol in the city of Madison, this seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, A.D.

By the Governor: WILLIAM E. SMITH,

Hans B. Warner, Secretary of State.

Chicago is solid to-day for Grant.

There seems to be no "pivotal" State for the Democrats to lean their hopes upon.

The South will have a boom in the way of a cotton crop this year. This will pay much better than its politics.

The Second Quarterly Conference of Universalists in Wisconsin will be held at Stoughton, on the 1st instant, and will continue four days.

Since the elections, Mr. Tilden says he has no time to devote to politics. The Republican majorities have crushed the Cipher's ambition for a nomination.

Mr. Conkling wants Cornell to take the Chairmanship of the National Republican Committee. Mr. Conkling should carry out the wishes of the people and keep still.

Some of the leading Democrats are settling down on Seymour and Hendricks for the Presidential ticket of 1880; and General Grant and William A. Wheeler will settle down heavy on that ticket in 1880.

Senator Blaine says he is half inclined to go to Louisiana to make some political speeches. He should be altogether inclined to go, and test the right of a Republican speaker, to go South and talk as he would talk in the North.

Governor Smith has appointed Hon. John Johnston, of Milwaukee, as one of the trustees of the Institution for the Blind. Mr. Johnston is private secretary to Hon. Alexander Mitchell. The appointment is a good one and will give satisfaction to all parties.

Mrs. Colby, of Milwaukee; Pierce, of Adams; Kelsey, of Marquette; and Arnold, of Trempealeau, are prominently mentioned as candidates for Speaker of the Assembly. If the preponderance of press sentiment is any indication as to who will be Speaker, Mr. Colby will probably be the successful man.

The Janesville Times is compelled to say, "If the untimely issues of the extra session are re-agitated, then good bye to all hope of Democratic success." That is even so, and it is a wonder that the scales are being tilted from the eyes of the Democrats. The grand victories gained by the Republicans everywhere, have driven the Democrats into a confession that the Republicans were right during the extra session, and the Democrats altogether wrong. Nothing but political death staring the Democratic party in the face, would have forced the party to make such an acknowledgment.

Ex-Governor Washburn has unfortunately been compelled to fight in the court for the insurance due him on the loss of his great mill which occurred on the 23d of May, 1873. Many of the companies in which he had insurance refused to settle their loss on technical grounds, in other words, they attempted to defraud him. He was therefore forced to institute suits in the United States Courts to recover what was justly due him in consequence of the fire. It is gratifying that in all these cases he has been successful. Another case was decided in his favor this week at Pittsburg, the suit being brought against the Artisan Insurance Company of Pittsburg. In the suit he obtained a judgment of $2,668, and in a similar suit against the Pennsylvania Insurance Company, he recovered $1,650. The grounds on which the company refused to pay their losses was that the building was destroyed, or partly so, by an explosion against which they did not insure. Of course this defense was set up for no other purpose than to escape the payment of an honest debt. The Court, in rendering the decision in the suit against Artisan Insurance Company, blew the Artisan completely out of water by this opinion: "When an insured structure is attacked by fire in progress of which the ignition of any explosive substance is involved, and its destruction is thereby accelerated or rendered more complete, the loss is just as attributable to the fire as if the result had been effected by unaided gradual combustion." It is a pity that Governor Washburn has been compelled to incur so much expense, annoyance and delay, in obtaining what is justly due him from the insurance companies.

THE NEWS.

THE WONDERS OF THE TELEPHONE.

One of the most practical and surprising inventions of the age is the telephone: The phonograph is probably more curious and incomprehensible, than the telephone, but so far Mr. Edison has failed to make it practical, and we fear that his hopes of last year will never be realized.

But the telephone is as useful in its way as the telegraph, and in fact is being used with remarkable success where the telegraph is impossible. The utility of the telephone is vastly increased and its wonderful achievements greatly multiplied, by the use of the Blake transmitter. There is one of these unpretentious pieces of mechanism in this city, and is placed in the office of Dr. Palmer, and is connected with the wires which run to his residence, a mile away, and to Prentiss & Evans' drugstore. It is a wonderful little box-like arrangement, containing nothing really, but a small vibrating place and yet it is the means by which astonishing things are performed. By it, a whisper in the room in which it is placed, can be heard miles away with perfect clearness.

The writing upon a piece of paper near the transmitter can be heard as distinctly a mile off, as it can be by the person doing the writing. If the room containing this novel little case, is connected with another room by a door, a person may talk in a low tone, or even whisper, in the second room, and still all that is said can be heard at the other end of the line, regardless almost, of the distance. These experiments have been thoroughly tried in Dr. Palmer's office, and Mrs. Palmer, with whom communication was had, did not fail to repeat instantly, what was said in the office.

These effects are not only surprising, but they are extremely advantageous. In using the ordinary telephonic transmitter, you hold it in the hand and place it to the mouth and speak into it, but sometimes if it is too close or too far from the mouth, the words are not distinctly heard by the person to whom the communication is being sent; but in using the Blake transmitter you speak anywhere in the room in the ordinary conversational tone, and your language is delivered with perfect accuracy.

The telephonic system is being established in all the principal cities and towns in the country, and lines are multiplying with marvelous rapidity. The invention is a mighty saving of time and labor, and is a convenience in thousands of cases which can not be measured by dollars and cents nor fully described in a brief editorial.

General Grant has received congratulatory telegrams from nearly all the Governors of the Northern States.

The procession was an hour passing a given point. The General was drawn in a handsome carriage drawn by six horses.

The streets and buildings are covered with people and the cheers are deafening with

The Visit of the Great Warrior to Chicago.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 11.—The special train for Gen Grant and family, following the regular passenger train, arrived here at 7 o'clock p. m. It consists of President Ackerman's private car, with a baggage car attached, and is now on the siding near the depot. General Grant will be accompanied only by his family, with Mrs. Montgomery, of Chicago, and General Rowley of Galena, by special invitation. It was expected that General Grant and family would sleep on board the cars tonight, as the hour of starting (5 a. m. tomorrow) is an early one; but on arrival of the train word was given that they preferred remaining at home for the night and coming on board in the morning. Owing to the darkness and the drenching rain very few were at the depot on the arrival of the train, and it is not expected that many will be present to see them off in the morning at so early an hour. One of the fastest engines of the company was detailed for this special duty, the engine belonging with the car being left behind, owing to bad weather, but it is to meet and take the train into the city tomorrow afternoon. There will be no demonstrations of any kind on the departure of General Grant and family for Chicago. Mrs. Grant has been too busy in unpacking and arranging things in her home and looking after her wardrobe, after so long absence, to see all who called on her. It is expected that several entertainments will be given and received after their return from Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The city is already crowded with visitors. The rains from the middle of the forenoon yesterday and thereafter came to town filled to their utmost capacity with strangers, and the hoteliers were the first to feel the new arrivals.

In all down town street leading from the several railway depots were long lines of wayfarers, with grip sack in hand and the badge of their corps on the lapel of their coat, and they marched on as they marched southward fifteen or eighteen years ago.

All the hotels found it advisable to provide extra accommodations for their guests, and all available rooms were for the nonce converted into sleeping apartments. The quiet rooms, society-rooms, parlors, and, in some places, the dining-rooms, were turned into great dormitories, while a cot in a hallway, with slight covering and plenty of draft, was above par by a large majority.

In such places down town as the old Republican headquarters, temporary accommodations were to be found for veterans, and there were the thousands who came to the city and distributed themselves among their friends here. The less prominent hotels were even more taxed than their larger neighbors. What the city will be to night is "what no fellow can ever find out." It will be impossible for all the trains running out of Chicago to take the strangers home in any one day, and how the visitors can be housed and fed is a question. As for the boarding, that can be done; but it is the lodgings that is to test the capacity of the Garden City. Persons who have made it pleasant for boarders and profitable for themselves if they left their names and residences and the number of persons

How a King Tested Phrenology.

New York World.

"Who," said King Frederick of Prussia at a fete at Potsdam which had attracted an unusually brilliant assemblage, "who is that tall, bony old man, with a head so full of character?"

"Sir, it is Dr. Gall, the famous phrenologist."

"Ah, the phrenologist, eh? Command him to dine with us to-morrow evening."

Next evening the King received the Doctor affably, and they sat down together with a dozen other convives, all blazing with decorations and uniforms, but awkward and constrained in manners and conversation.

"Doctor," said the King, at the conclusion of the repast, "pray let us see something of your wonderful skill. Examine me, gentlemen, and tell me frankly what you think of their dispositions and characters from the indications afforded by their cranial developments."

Gall rose and felt the head of his neighbor on the right, a stout, powerful man in a resplendent uniform, who had been addressed as "General."

"Speak frankly," said the King, seeing that the phrenologist seemed embarrassed. "His excellency," said Gall, "must be passionately fond of—to field sports and exciting pleasures; he has a decided fancy for—for the battle-field and—"

The King smiled, and pointed the phrenologist to his other neighbor, a small, alert, keen-eyed man in the diplomatic costume.

"This gentleman," said the Doctor, "is—him—is an expert in gymnastic exercises, an accomplished pedestrian; very neat and graceful in all operations requiring manual dexterity."

"Enough," said the King, rapping on the table, and as a score of soldiers entered he continued, to the stupefaction of Dr. Gall, "remove these gentlemen to their cells. Allow me to put in plain language what you were reluctant to say: The General is a murderer under sentence, and your other neighbor is the most expert pick-pocket and cutpurse in all Prussia, who has eluded capture on innumerable occasions. Examine your pockets."

The Doctor did so, and found that his handkerchief, purse, watch, and snuff-box had disappeared. They were all returned to him next day, with a complimentary letter from the King, and a costly snuff-box bearing Fredrick's portrait set in brilliants.

ABOUT SPOOLS.

How they are Made and Where—A Curious Piece of Machinery.

From the Boston Commercial Bulletin.

White birch is largely used in this manufac-ture, and as extensive forests of this wood grow throughout the State of Maine, Canada, and the Province, many spool factories are located in these sections in order that supplies of material may be easily procured. The wood, after being delivered to the factory, is first sawed into pieces about four feet long, and from each to an inch and a half square, according to the size of the spool it is required to make. These pieces are put into a dry-house and thoroughly dried, from whence they are taken into the factory and given to the "roughers," who, in an incredibly short space of time, bore a deep hole in the centre a couple of inches deep, turn about the same space round and cut off the length required for a spool. The machines used for this purpose are revolving planers, in the center of which is a revolving gimlet or bit, and immediately to the right a small circular saw with a gauge set to the proper size of the spool. The "roughers" receive a cent and a half per gross for their work, and experienced men can turn out from 100 to 130 gross per day. The round blocks pass from them to the "finishes" who place them in machines which give them the shape of spools and makes them quite smooth. A man stands with his left hand on a small lever, and with the right places the blocks, one at a time, in the lathe, then draws the lever to him for an instant and the work is done; the lever is pushed back and the spools drop down into a box below, while the right hand is ready with another block. These blocks are handled at the rate of twenty-five to thirty per minute. The "finishes" also receive a cent and a half per gross and they can each turn out and cut from one hundred to one hundred and thirty gross per day. The spools are then thrown loosely into a large cylinder, which revolves slowly so that the spools are polished by the constant rubbing upon each other for some time. On being taken out of the cylinder they are placed in a hopper with an opening at the bottom, through which they pass down a slide of inspection. Here the inspector sits and watches closely to see that no imperfect spools are allowed to pass, and a very small knot or scratch is sufficient to condemn them. The spools then pass into the hands of the packers, who handle them very lively. They are packed into large boxes made the proper size so that layers of spools exactly fill the box, with no additional packing, and a smart boy who is accustomed to work can pack about two hundred gross per day.

LETTER OF THANKS.

SHOPIRE, Nov. 8, 1879.
To the Electors of Second School Superintendent District of Rock Co.

GENTLEMEN.—The unusual pleasure of a defeated candidate is mine, that of thanking you, for your interest in my behalf. The battle is fought, the victory won. My opponent is happy in the office of Superintendent. I am happy in the possession of the many true friends who gave me so magnanimous a minority. To be sure you did not give me that, which you wished and intended, but you did well. It was, truly, it was nobly done.

I would that I could greet you all in one great hearty hand-clap, but as it is I must be content, to reach you through the press, for this spontaneous effort to raise our educational interest's above partisanship and political issues.

You have placed me, by your suffrages, under obligations which I can only meet by increased effort in my daily work in the cause of education.

Trusting that not one who supported me may ever have cause to regret the step he has taken.

I am sincerely yours,
MARY A. CUCKOW.

CLINTON.

The well known face of John Slosson is again seen on our streets.

Luther Stocking, formerly of our village, but now of Brodhead, was in town this week.

Mr H N Ewing, who has been visiting in Milwaukee, Muskego, Burlington and elsewhere, returned to Clinton last Monday.

Mr L P Logan has sold his house and lot on Quality Hill to C L Hartshorn. Mr Logan and family will soon move to Nebraska, where part of the family now reside.

Worth Hunter has returned from his Nebraska trip. He thinks Clinton is all right for a wintering place.

Mrs Joanna Lamson offers her house in our village for sale.

Mr Wilder now occupies the Ole Thompson house.

Rev E P Dye has moved into his house on Milwaukee street.

Hiram Case was out to attend election; the first time he has been to the village in months.

A gentle but copious rain on Monday night filled our empty cisterns and saturated the parched earth so that ploughing can again be run.

Mr Hamlin is putting the last coat of paint on his new house.

Many of our citizens went to Chicago to do honor to General Grant, and take in the Fat Stock Show.

Part of the Elkhorn Independent, was in town Monday.

COOKSVILLE.

The rain Saturday night and then again of Monday night has given the ground a good soaking. Now look out for winter to set in.

A petition was circulated quite freely election day praying our legislators to enforce the death penalty in some form for murder in the first degree.

Mr Charles Mills thinks Dakota is the country at all for a young man to settle in, and reiterates Horace Greeley's advice "young man go west & make a farm."

E Van Patten has concluded to buy hogs and cattle for Stevens Brothers and Johnson of Evansville, he is dodging around among the farmers.

The prospect seems favorable now for the farmers to strip their tobacco before cold weather comes in.

Our grist mill has changed operators again. It is now Rice & Wells, Mr Barber having leased a one half interest to Mr Wells, and himself son are miller and assistant at Stebbensville.

Wm Leedle and son have just been building a hog house 24x60 feet, with all the conveniences for watering and feeding.

Leedle & Son, Rock Co. Mills, are doing a heavy custom business this season.

Corn is a good crop in this section this year, and generally the best on clover soil ground.

The Boys at Chiron's School.

Every one knows about the Centaurs,—"people of Thessaly"; yet no one ever has told us about Centaur boys.

Now-a-days people are discovering everything. There's Dr Schleimann, who has discovered all the old kitchen-ware of the ancient Trojans, and written a book on it; and another explorer has just found out about some young Centaurs who went to Old Chiron's school.

It was a boarding and day school situated on the Island of Peperathos, off the coast of the "sky"; "most salubrious pot," the school prospectus said, and Old Chiron taught all the polite arts. It must have been a trouble, for young Centaurs were a wild set. Indeed, people in those days never said, "This boy is as wild as a young colt," but "As wild as a young Centaur," which amounted to the same thing. The Centaur boys had good times, you may be sure. The polite arts did not bother them much, though the boys bothered old Chiron. He was always shouting to them to keep their hooches off the desks and to stop switching their tails about, for they knocked down ink bottles and things. Of course, in fly time such a rule was very hard, but the Centaur boys revenged themselves by chasing the geese that belonged to Old Chiron's old housekeeper, and making her scold till she was hoarse. They played foot ball, too, and such a splendid game, for every Centaur could kick both with his hind feet, while he steadied himself with his fore feet. The ball sometimes went clear across the Island—about two miles. At least that is the record the boys left out on the rocks at Peperathos, so far as our discoverer could make out, and translate. "Gryneus" and "Phoibar" must have been the best kickers, for he found them buried out on the rocks, just under this big kicking stone.

And they had grand games of base ball; such running and catching! They did not need to stand steady themselves when they caught, as none of them were bow-legged and that was certainly advantageous over two legged boys.

But they never played marbles, for they could not kneel down properly; still it was a great saving in trouser knees. They ran races, though, and made splendid time.

"Rheutus" was the big racer for two school terms, so the record said, and the name of the champion for the next year must have been kicked off out of envy, for our explorer noticed a big piece of rock chipped off, just under Rheutus's name. They could not have boat races, of course, but they had swimming matches, and you may imagine that a boy with four legs and two arms could make pretty fast time.

They were a right conceited set, these Centaurs, but they had a "take down" when two Greek boys from the mainland came to school. These boys had only two legs, like our boys here, and the Centaur boys made no end of fun of them. But when Chiron saw that the two young Greeks, "Crates" and "Cranor," were studious and polite, he used to ride them on his back and show them other favors. This made the Centaurs envious, and they did their best to make the young Greeks' lives a burden to them. They would not let them play ball because they had only two legs, nor race, though Cranor was a first rate runner, nor even let them chase the old woman's geese. So Crates and Cranor gave up, and turned their attention toward the polite arts, hoping their turn would come soon.

Yours respectfully,

Crates and Cranor had a cousin, a pretty little Greek girl who came to visit them one day, named Celena. She brought a splendid cake for the boys, and some honey from Hymettus, so, of course, all the boys were anxious to please her. They ran races, and played ball, and jumped fences, and Celena said they were very smart.

Then Crates turned a hand-spring and Cranor stood on his head.

"Can you do that?" asked Celena.

The Centaurs were ashamed, but they had to own up that it was impossible.

"Well, then," said Celena, "can't you get me some nuts? There is a tree full of them."

The Centaur boys all gathered around the tree, and reached up as far as they could, but having gathered all the nuts within reach some days before, they could get none now for Celena.

"Why don't you climb up, stupids?" said she.

Then all those Centaur boys were covered with confusion, for not one of them could climb a tree.

Crates and Cranor could, and in a minute they were on the topmost branches gathering nuts and throwing them down to Celena, who thanked them very prettily, and turned up her pretty Greek nose at the unhappy Centaur boys. And after that Crates and Cranor held their heads high enough.

"For some things," sighed the Centaur boys, "it is better to be a two-legged boy, than the way they grew madest, and went to work to study the polite arts.

FURNITURE!

Still Down at Bottom Prices

Notwithstanding the recent advance in all kinds of Furniture, we are determined to keep prices as heretofore. Having kept posted as to the doings of the recent Convention of Furniture Manufacturers, we took advantage of the market and purchased 100 dozen Chairs, about four car loads, at the old price, with usual discounts. That's good news for persons wishing to purchase such goods. All goods at lowest prices. Parlor and Chamber Furniture the largest stock that was ever brought to this city. Our trade has never been better than last month. For five years past things have been booming with us. No year going to Chicago for Chamber Sets; we can beat them; we had it finely illustrated here-to-day. No cheap goods here, but good goods cheap. No green lumber. If things are not as we tell you, we are here and you can see us; we are going to stay. Call and look over our stock.

UNDERTAKING:

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1879.
CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

—Wet Wednesday.
—Chicago has drawn the crowd to-day.
—A large brass key has been picked up on Hickory street, and left at the Gazette office for an owner.

The missionary meeting at the First Methodist church to-night promises to be interesting. Addresses, readings, music, refreshments and social chatting are down on the programme.

—Rev. T. P. Sawin will lead the Y. M. C. meeting to-morrow morning. Topic—"Opposite chances of two young men." Meeting to-night at quarter to eight o'clock led by N. Dutton.

—Protestant Service will be at Apollo hall to-night and will be pleased to meet all who wish to learn the beautiful art of dancing. He will introduce this season several new dances.

—The mud of the big city will play sad havoc with the nobby clothes of the Guards. It vain they will cry with Lady Macbeth, "Out, damned spot, out!" It won't out. It sticketh closer than a brother.

—At the Universalist convention to be held at Stoughton, November 19 to 21, Rev. G. W. Lawrence, of this city, is to give an address on "Death Punishment in Criminal Cases." Mrs. S. C. L. Jones, of this city, is to give a paper on "The Religion of the Poets."

—We received a pleasant call last evening from H. W. Whitney, of Monroe. Mr.

Whitney is one of the live business men of Monroe, and is the Manager of the Monroe Manufacturing Company, which has grown under his management to be one of the leading manufacturing establishments of the West.

—The Cedar Rapids Republican gives Frank Barnett's dry goods store a half column write-up, in which it says a great many handsome things of him and the stock of goods he is handling. All the Janesville folk who know Frank will believe he merits every bit of the praise bestowed, and we think so too.

—Readers who skip the advertisements miss much, and they will surely miss it if they skip the advertisement of Croft & Sherer to be found in another column. That firm keeps everything that is expected in the drug line, and you can always find them well stocked up. They know how to handle their stock too, and in prescriptions they are safe and careful.

—Now that this is a week of special prayer for young men, we would suggest to the good brethren that they should not forget to throw in a little extra fervency in behalf of those who spend their evenings in bracing up the rails of the bridges, and holding down dry goods boxes, and commenting on ladies and gent's who happen to pass by.

—Some days ago we mentioned the fact that though seven ministers reside in the First ward, there were no votes cast there for the Prohibition ticket. A correspondent sends us a communication in which he severely criticizes some of the seven for their inconsistency in voting other tickets, having declared publicly that they would not support men who were not pledged to leave the issue to a vote of the people. There has nothing yet been shown but what those of the seven referred to did not vote at all, and hence the criticism might be unjust. In any event we don't think that a personal discussion through the press would tend to any very marked change of mind on the part of either critic or criticised, and so drop the matter.

CIRCUIT COURT CRUMBS.

The case of Baker vs. Taylor was on trial to-day and resulted in a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The case against James Snell has been given a change of venue to Walworth county, an affidavit being filed setting forth prejudice as the cause.

The criminal calendar will be moved for to-morrow.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVANSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 63 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a.m. to-day at 50 degrees above; and at 7 o'clock a.m. at 47 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p.m. at 61 degrees above. Heavy rain last night. To-day showery and clearing.

During the first sixteen days of October the mean temperature was 72 degrees. During the last fifteen days of that month it was 44 degrees. The mean temperature for the month was 58 degrees.

The indications to-day are, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

PARLOR PLEASURES.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray entertained a goodly number of their friends last evening, and entertained them in a gaily manner. They know how. The hours were happily spent in the usual parlor festivities. Refreshments were served, bountiful and tempting. Little groups afterwards gathered about the tables and indulged in cards and chatting, while others gathered about the piano, at which Miss Campbell presided, while Mr. and Mrs. Wingate, Mr. Pliny Norcross and others sang some stirring "Jubilee" songs, which were full of harmony and spirit. There was no stiff formality to the gathering, and yet no bordering on boorishness. Everybody sought enjoyment and happily found it.

THE GUARDS IN CHICAGO.

The Janesville Guards have evidently commenced making the impression produced in yesterday's Gazette. This morning's Chicago Tribune says:

The Janesville Guards, under command of Capt. H. A. Smith, arrived over the North-West road at 6:30 o'clock, last evening, and were reported to the 1st regiment company by company G, of the latter organization, under command of Captain Lintz. The visiting company is the crack organization of the State from which it hails, and is certainly one of the finest appearing bodies of men which has visited the city for some time. They will remain until Friday morning, and will make their headquarters at the 1st regiment arm-

COUNTY CONCERN.

The Supervisors Have Them Under Consideration To-day.

Resolutions Introduced Changing Salaries, and Amending the Criminal Laws.

O'Donnell Re-elected Janitor.

At 9 o'clock this morning the County Board met in pursuance with adjournment yesterday afternoon. After the journal of yesterday was read and approved, Mr. Thomas moved that the Board proceed to the election of janitor for the Court House, and that his duties and salary be the same for the coming year as last year, and that the first ballot be informal. Carried.

Mr. Howard presented the name of Alexander Shafer for the office. Mr. Shymakar presented the name of Richard O'Donnell, the present janitor. Mr. McIntyre presented the name of David Walsh.

Messrs. Nowlan and Harper were named by the chairman as tellers, and an informal ballot was taken as follows:

Whole number of votes.....	28
Richard O'Donnell.....	15
Alexander Shafer.....	11
David Walsh.....	2

A formal ballot was then taken:

Whole number of votes.....	29
O'Donnell.....	18
Shafer.....	11

Richard O'Donnell was therupon declared elected.

Mr. Metcalf, of Committee No. 1, presented several reports on tax matters.

Mr. Nowlan presented the petition of John W. Allen for payment for setting out the centennial tree in the park. The petition sets forth the fact that he planted it two years ago, and that payment had been refused on the ground that it was not done by proper authority. The petition states that Judge Conger presided at the planting. Rev. T. P. Sawin made an appropriate prayer, Hon. H. A. Patterson delivered an eloquent address on the occasion.

Therefore the petitioner deemed it eminently proper that the expense, $4, and one dollar for his service, should be paid. On motion of Mr. Merrill, the petition was laid on the table.

Mr. Gunn presented the following resolution and moved its adoption;

Resolved, by the Rock County Board of Supervisors, that on and after the first Monday of January 1881, the compensation of the District Attorney shall be $1,000 and the County Treasurer $80 annually the same to be paid as the law directs.

Mr. Carle moved to amend by making the salary of the District Attorney $1,000 and the salary of the Clerk and Treasurer to remain as at present.

Mr. Gardiner moved to amend the amendment by fixing the salary of the District Attorney at $800.

On motion of Mr. Nowlan the resolution and amendment were made the special order for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

At 10 o'clock the special order, Mr. Eldridge's resolution of yesterday, in regard to the county jail, was taken up, and on motion of Mr. Metcalf it was adopted.

Mr. Gunn presented the following, which on motion of Mr. McIntyre was made the special order for three o'clock this afternoon.

Resolved, by the Rock County Board of Supervisors, that we earnestly petition the honorable members of our State Legislature to use their earnest endeavors to change the following named sections of the new statutes of 1875:

First, Sec. 4338, chapter 181. By forfeiture of life by hanging when found guilty of murder in the first degree.

Second, Sec. 2838, chapter 113, so that Court reporters' compensation shall not exceed $7 per day.

Third, Sec. 704, chapter 37, so that county superintendents of schools shall not receive less than three nor more than six hundred dollars in districts containing more than five and less than ten thousand inhabitants, nor less than six nor more than twelve hundred dollars in districts containing more than ten thousand inhabitants.

Fourth, Sec. 761 and 747, Chapter 37, by changing the offices of Clerk of the Court and Register of Deeds into a salaried one, the same to be fixed by the County Board and fees from said office to be paid into the County Treasury.

Our criminal law should be so amended that when defendants are financially able they should pay their own witness fees if found guilty of the crime or deed accused.

Resolved further, That the County Clerk is hereby authorized to transmit a copy of this resolution to our State Senator and to each member of the Assembly from this county, requesting to use all honorable means in aid of the above desired changes of our present law.

ASTON HOUSE, NEW YORK, best accommodations, reduced prices.

TRYING TO GET INTO JAIL.

The report that about thirty tramps were in camp near Monterey, proves to have about as much bottom to it as many of the reports set afloat. There were three stragglers hanging around there, and the Marshal interviewed them. They wanted to be arrested and put in jail here for many days, so as to be out of the wet and the cold, and have something to eat. The officer didn't seem to be in very much of a hurry to give them such a boarding place, and then they threatened that if they were not arrested as tramps, they would come down town and steal a pair of boots, or do some devilry that the officers would have to arrest them for. They thought they could get into jail that way. They changed their minds though on being told that if arrested they would have to wear a ball and chain and work on the streets, and have only bread and water for their diet. On being so informed they damned the county officials for not treating tramps more tenderly, and bid good bye to Rock county, striking out for Illinois or some other State where they could have better treatment. This is but a sample of the way many of these tramps talk and feel. The Marshal has prevent many of them from stopping here by being at the depot when trains come in. They don't like the reception he gets.

BOX TRAVELLERS.

Two Janesville Boys Turn up at Home After Being Missing for a Week—Their Trip to Mobile, Alabama.

One week ago Sol Wyler, son of Mr. L. Wyler, and Willie Wilcox, son of Mr. C. T. Wilcox were missing. Whither they had gone no one seemed to know. As they were only fifteen years old the anxiety was somewhat increased as to how they were to care for themselves, in case they had really run away from home as was supposed. Mr. Wyler went to Chicago and spent two days there hunting for his son. [The police searched the city and other cities were telegraphed to, but no trace could be gained. This afternoon the boys returned on the train from Chicago.

We had a brief chat with the Wyler boy, and from him learned that the Wilcox boy teased him to go away with him, and showed him $87 with which to pay expenses. He wanted to see something of the country and so started. They went to Chicago, thence to Fort Wayne, and to Cincinnati. They pushed right on to Louisville, Bowling Green, Nashville and to Montgomery and Mobile, Alabama. They made no stops, save for a few hours at Cincinnati and at Fort Wayne. They spent Sunday afternoon in Mobile, and then young Wilcox wanted to go to New Orleans, and from there got on a ship, but Wyler became homesick and would go no further. Wilcox who had all the money bought a ticket for Chicago, but young Wyler had to work his passage as best he could. He told the conductor his story and got passed through with his comrade, both reaching home to-day. Such was the outcome of the trip as told by him.

He related many instances of the journey, and details of what he saw though he hurried over the road pretty lively, and traveling most of the time. Young Wyler was glad enough to get home, and says he don't want to go again. His only object in going was to see the country, but he says he has seen enough now. His friends say he is a quiet, well-behaved boy, and they were greatly surprised that he should join in any such wild trip as this.

QUICK FORTUNES IN STOCKS.

Vast sums of money are made in quick turns of stocks in Wall Street. Business has never been more successful. By the new combination plan, large and small investments (from $25 to $10,000) are combined in one vast sum, and operated by the most skillful experience, securing immense power in the stock market and gaining splendid profits. Thousands of customers are thus united in one concurrent enterprise, and receive their pro rata profits monthly.

An Indiana country merchant made $17,392.41 in the four months of November.

A Texas cattle dealer made $33,615.94 in two combinations; a St. Louis shipping merchant made $47,970.21 in less than six months, all through the combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which has realized the greatest success in the history of the stock market.

Their new circular, with "unerring rules for success," and complete explanations how to make money in stocks, mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City.
